

Coating of loading areas

Already a few years, ACT research owns an installation for the application of Poly-Urea coating.

This coating is use for:

- The protection of the loading bays of pick-ups
- The interior of loading areas so that those areas can be cleaned with high pressure equipment
- The protection of the exterior of cars who have to be used in extreme conditions (police cars, cars for foresters etc.
- For the transport of food.

